

LEMON JUNE 13, 1992

CURRY #123 65c

Better, yes? This, the 123rd Lemon Curry (well, only about the 15th or so that's actually called "Lemon Curry"), from Don Del Grande, 142 Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, CA 94904-1339, USA, phone +1 (415) 461-2692 but only 6 PM-11 PM local time, is the second try with the new PC system. No, this 'zine does not spell "women" with a "y" or say "vertically challenged" instead of "short" (I can see it now: "Austria plays one unit vertically challenged this season") - it's not that kind of PC. While the new maps in the last issue came out fine (although the pieces in the Dip map may have been a little too big, especially the ones in the Italy/Austria area), the header didn't quite come out the way I planned. So, back to the drawing board, use a bit of Micrografx Draw, copy the header as a graphic to Word Perfect, and - here it is.

MONTY'S NEWS AND COMMENT is brought to you by ESPN's America Cup SCUBA-CAM - hey, how about some shots of the keels while you're there?

Chris Berman's "Tack-Tack-Tack-Tack-Tack-Tack-Tack-Tack" is bad enough.... (Actually, I enjoy watching America's Cup yachting; remember, I also like five-day cricket matches and the Tour de France.)

Unfortunately, I got the final ballot for the Hobby Awards just after I published my last issue, and most of you will be receiving this issue after the deadline, so there's no ballot here. Still, you can do your part by donating some much-needed cash to Ron Cameron, 14790 Ambrose, Lake Elsinore, CA 92530. (That is, if you have any money left over after your generous donation to the Zine Register last month, right?) The awards - Don Miller Memorial Award for hobby service, Rod Walker award for literary excellence, Melinda Ann Holley award for "quantity participation" (strange - Melinda's not up for the award this year), and John Koning award for actually playing Dip - will be handed out at DIPCON in Kansas City.

Speaking of DIPCON, I assume most of you filled out the registration form you found in last issue and mailed it in along with the appropriate fees, and I'll be seeing you in Lenexa, Kansas (a suburb of Kansas City). I'll be the one with the Pentax IQ Zoom 105 and the photos from WORLD DIP CON.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

A few days after issue 122 was mailed, Kathy Caruso mailed issue 180 of Kathy's Kormor - in which she announced:

there will be no more gossipy silliness, no more chit chat...as of this issue KK goes warehouse as it winds down and prepares to fold up. I just don't have the time to put into it anymore, nor do I want to.

It must be a fake, right? Unfortunately, the faker would have had to receive access to a very recent address list (the computer address label not only matches the style of the previous issues, but takes into account a 10-issue sub extension since last issue), must have been in the Philadelphia area (that's where it's postmarked, just like last issue), and must be just as bad a speller as Kathy ("In no way does this mean taht I am leaving the hobby" and "take there turn at publishing", and that's just from the first two paragraphs).

So, it looks like KK really is winding down after about 13 years (beginning as Whitestonia by John Caruso, then W/KK, then KK/W as more and more people realized who was running the hobby 'zine). You know as well as I do that this is NOT allowed - if Kathy wants to fold, she'll have to do it KICKING and SCREAMING all the way - all together now: KK MUST STAY. And there's only one sure way of doing that:

This is an official COUP - effective IMMEDIATELY, I am taking over as Hobby Gossipy Silliness and Chit Chat Custodian (HGSCCC) from Kathy. All stupid questions, all idiot baseball remarks, all comments about garbage tax, will be sent to me.

I am sure that even Kathy realizes this would mean the immediate and irrevocable END of the hobby as we know it, and we might as well all sell our Dip sets and buy 1830.

The 20th ZINE REGISTER is now available for $2.50 (overseas $4) from Garret Schenck, 40 Third Place, Basement Apt, Brooklyn, NY 11231-3302. For $5, you can get a copy of the ZR plus a package of 'zines from the North American Zine Bank.

And now, courtesy of Bartlett's Familiar Quotations and the Columbia Consize Quotations on the Microsoft Bookshelf Computer CD-ROM:

DIPLOMACY QUOTE OF THE MONTH

(I know what you're about to say, but "Quote of the Issue" or "Quote of the Five Weeks" doesn't sound very good)

Diplomacy is to do and say

The nastiest thing in the nicest way

- Isaac Goldberg (1887-1938), The Reflex

Even back then, they knew what it was all about.

GAME OPENINGS

DIPLOMACY - Sorry I left this out last time. Wilson, Hughes, McHugh, B. Nielsen, P. Appleyard signed up - need 2 more.

TRIVIAL PURSUIT - Ongoing game; you can join at any time. Write for more details.

MEGADIPLOMACY KREMLIN: Phil Reynolds (address until 7/17: USF #4270, 4202 Fowler Ave, Tampa, FL 33620) is starting a Megadip version of KREMLIN (i.e. KREMLIN rules, but Dip hobby members and offices) in his 'zine Pontevedria.

Road to the White House is on hold while I work out some rules for people who won't shell out $30 for the game...

TRIVIAL PURSUIT "CARRIE" - Just when you thought Dave Anderson might set an unreachable standard...

DIP WARZ

"A little to the left - slightly higher - can't you get that thing any straighter? Now, stick it - WHAT are YOU doing here? Can't we get some poster-hanging done in place?" Well, what did you THINK Princess Luscious (oops) EMPEROR Princess Luscious was talking about?

"I see we're back", comments John Pole-O. "How about getting the pages right this time?" (For anyone who had problems with issue 121: take the fourth sheet, turn it around, and put it back into the 'zine.)

Anyway, when we last left the Linoleum Falcon, ILOM was reading 52 volumes of Peericleesbleah to Rod Seaparter as punishment for calling EMPEROR Princess Luscious' Megahealth Dietshakes "idiot" and not bowing down in her presence when doing so. In the meantime, the Diplomatic Rebels have landed on the pretty-much-solid-platinum planet of this universe's interplanetary postal service to unveil a new stamp commemorating Garra the Elvi Master. There was some speculation as to which of two likenesses of Garra would be used. The big moment came. The video cameras beamed the new EMPEROR's likeness to trillions of not-too-terribly-interested viewers, or at least not too terribly interested before the "interest detection vans" came around with orders to create some distance between the heads and rest of the bodies of anyone not extremely interested in the EMPEROR whenever she appeared on the screen. The stamp was unveiled - they chose the ALIVE Garra over the dead one. The crowd showed some mild enthusiasm. Then came the BIG unveiling - the PRICE of the stamp. It suffices to say that the result caused a massive looting of the planetary surface - the people literally dug up the surface of this pretty-much-solid platinum planet. The ones who managed to fill their ships may be able to afford a down payment on one of the new stamps.

One crewman on Lord Sacks Fifthavenue's ship was not impressed. "What's the big deal? We use E-Mail." (ZOT)

"OK, mister smart guy," Lord Sacks Fifthavenue asked the smoking remains of the former crewman, "how do you E-mail packages?"

Another crewman with plenty of insurance dared answer: "What, having things sent by torpedo tube is too good for some people?" "And speaking of torpedo tubes - what have we got in the ammunition bays? Any back issues of Victoriana or Mad Policy or fast trax?"

Someone handed Lord Sacks Fifthavenue an ammunition manifest. "Excellent - modern weapons for modern times! This may end 'zine warfare forever. Load with maximum care! Take aim - now, IN THE NAME OF THE ALMIGHTY ME!"

The ship's tubes spewed forth unspeakable death and unmentionable destruction.

"Well, what is it?" asks Oboe-1 Caruso.

"Didn't you hear the author?" responds Baldo Calberchian. "It's unspeakable and unmentionable."

"I'd say 'your hat is on too tight' except for fears that you might take it off and have the reflection blind everyone within a 20-parsec radius. 1LOM, analyze the attack."

"It's - no, he DIDN'T - it should be OUTLAWED - prepare for IMMEDIATE UNSPEAKABLE and UNMENTIONABLE DAMAGE!"

EMPEROR Princess Luscious is unimpressed. "How bad can a few folded 'zines damage us?"

BLAST
SHAKE RATTLE ROLL
CRUNCH TINKLE
SPLAT

"1LOM, damage report!"

"Direct hit by a case of EMPEROR Princess Luscious' own brand Extrafoul Megahealth Dietshakes. Nobody wants to go near the impacted areas, and even the ship's damage control units seem to be rejecting any ideas of touching the stuff."

AUSTRIA-ITALY: I don't know if you're trustworthy, I just don't know. Forgive me if I'm misjudging.

SILESIA (GERMANY)-WORLD: Hate to say it, but this game has all the makings of a joke. I'll fight on, but why bother?

GM-ALL: The above item had an original dateline "Silesia-World": I will add the country in parentheses if I think some players won't know who it's from. All press will have its author identified.

TURKEY-AUSTRIA: I don't recall getting any mail from you to respond to.

TURKEY-ITALY: You just don't get it do you? Sorry I tried.

TURKEY-GM: My brother (France), his (and my) friend (Italy), and I are in this game together because we want to play against each other. If another brother wasn't too busy he might have been in the game also. We're here to have fun. As the board shows, being in a game with brothers and friends certainly hasn't helped me.

GM-TURKEY: The two standbys may not have been expecting brothers in the same game, something normally not allowed in PBM Diplomacy without advance warning. I see that James Tretick was in this game once; didn't he once play a game his father was GMing but they both used pseudonyms?

FRANCE: Alas, poor Russia, I knew him well.

FRANCE-AUSTRIA: I'll talk to you.

FRANCE: Spokesman Wolf Bleet-zayre announced today that French troops occupied Berlin in a daring pre-dawn assault. When asked to explain their unexpected success, he informed the press corps that actually the troops thought they were retreating.
